EDITOR'S CORNER

Hi,

Sooner or later it is going to happen. You are cruising along being really creative and putting together a really cool newsletter then BAM! You push the button to save and the computer freezes up. Well if you guessed, that is what happened to me. So I apologize if this newsletter is not what you expected it to be. I am having to re-do the whole thing. My creative juices aren't flowing like they did the first time around, so sorry.

A college student contacted us and asked if he could survey our members. The information is below. I checked out the survey and it picks your mind a little, but not bad. Hope you can find to help him out.

I would love to hear from you with information to publish, questions you have, or ideas that you have on what you would like to see in this newsletter. E-mail me at mlgross@bis.midco.net or mail your submissions to 1808 Harmon Ave., Bismarck, ND 58501.

Heritage and Character Survey

I'd like to invite the members of the Bismarck-Mandan Historical and Genealogical Society to participate in a quick online survey titled "Heritage and Character". As a group of individuals who pursue knowledge of the past with a passion unmatched by all others, I believe your society will provide crucial insight into the topic I am researching. I also think you will have fun taking the survey! It contains 38 questions and will take about 20-25 minutes to complete. It will ask questions about your experiences in discovering the past, how those experiences changed you, made you better, or reinforced your values and your character, and whether your experiences have increased your attachment to a specific place. My thesis will explore this process as a form of "human capital development" that benefits the broader community through a concomitant process of place attachment. I believe this is a process that hasn't received its fair share of attention and that historical and genealogical societies, such as yours, are major players in this type of community development.

If you would like to know a little more about me personally before participating, please go to my website:

<https://sites.google.com/a/iastate.edu/brian-salmons>

Information about confidentiality and how your answers will be used is found on the first page of the survey. This information and to take the survey, please follow this link:

Thank you for your time.
